

As your new school year begins, it's important to understand your health care benefits and how they work. Your Anthem Student Advantage plan will help guide you through that process with information about who is eligible, what is covered, how much it costs, and the best ways to access care.

What you need to know about Anthem Student Advantage

Who is eligible?

- › All California State University, East Bay students, scholars, visiting faculty or other persons with a current passport or non-immigrant F-1 or J-1 visa are eligible for and required to enroll in this coverage provided that they are temporarily located outside their home country or country of residence and have not been granted permanent residency status in the U.S., and they are engaged in educational activities through the Policyholder.
- › Students engaged in Optional Practical Training (OPT) or Curricular Practical Training (CPT) can also be covered under this policy, provided that the OPT/CPT program immediately follows a course of study, the OPT/CPT program is no longer than 12 months in duration, and proof of OPT/CPT is provided (either a copy of the second page of their I-20 which lists their OPT dates, their Employment Authorization Card, or an official letter from the University stating their OPT dates).

- › The Company maintains its right to investigate student status and attendance records to verify that the policy eligibility requirements have been met.

Coverage is available for dependents too

If you are covered by Anthem Student Advantage through California State University East Bay, you may enroll your lawful spouse, domestic partner or dependent children under the age of 26.
